Granted, you can find, supposedly, tens of 1000s of members within the Warrior Forum. Keeping in mind that a lot of all those members are not energetic along with a large amount of them have a number of accounts and also offering them the benefit of the doubt, you can find about 7 billion men and women on the planet - and 80% of these use personal computers. The Warrior Forum is not even significant more than enough to qualify as a person minimal corner from the planet.
