From Yahoo Finance: SAN FRANCISCO, April 12, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Canadian robotics company bObsweep — makers of the strongest robotic vacuum in the industry, PetHair Plus — has created a structure that seamlessly integrates robotic vacuums into the interior architecture of the home. Robotic vacuums can now automatically recharge in a robovac "garage" carved out beneath kitchen base cabinets. The all-new smart home garage, the very first of its kind for robotic vacuums, seamlessly adapts the charging station's wireless technology into the interior of the home kitchen.
