So just how do we make use of Pareto's principle in practice? Lets say you intend to do cardio training, working on a treadmill in your gym a couple of times throughout the week. 80 of the outcome you are receiving from working on a treadmill are made within the initial twenty mins of your session. The rest of the time if you as an example wish to run an hour, will only give you 20 percent end result of the 80 percent of the job you are putting into.
